QUESTION 2

You are creating a document. You have to export content of this document to an XML file. So, you are tagging page items.

Which of the following statements are true about tagging? Each correct answer represents a complete solution. Choose all that apply.

- A. You cannot tag text or images on a master page.
- B. You can apply only one tag to a graphics frame.
- C. You cannot tag a group of objects.
- D. You cannot tag a footnote

Correct Answer: BCD

When you are tagging page items, you should note the following points: You can apply tags to stories as well as to text within stories. You can apply only one tag to a story. When you tag a frame in a threaded story, all the other frames in the story, along with any overset text, are assigned the same tag. You can apply only one tag to a graphics frame. When you tag a graphics frame, InDesign records a reference to the location of the graphic. You cannot tag a group of objects. To tag an item that is part of a group, use the Direct Selection tool to select the item. When you tag text within a tagged element (such as a paragraph within a story), it appears as a child of the existing element in the Structure pane. You can tag text or images on a master page, but only one instance of the corresponding element appears in the Structure pane regardless of how many times the item appears on the document pages.
