QUESTION 1

When a business analyst hosts a structured walkthrough of the requirements, what should the walkthrough always include at the beginning of the process?

- A. Review of the business case for the analysis
- B. Review of the requirements to be discussed
- C. Agenda
- D. Identification of the objectives and goals

Correct Answer: B

A structured walkthrough should begin with a review of the requirements to be discussed in the session.

Answer: C is incorrect. An agenda is often necessary, but it's not the best answer for this question.

Answer: A is incorrect. The business case isn't needed for review during a structured walkthrough of the requirements.

Answer: D is incorrect. The identification of the objectives and goals isn't appropriate at this meeting.

Correct Answer: C

The assessment of capability gaps is a business analysis task to identify new capabilities required in order to meet the business need.

Answer: D is incorrect. This is the definition of the business goal.

Answer: A is incorrect. This is the definition of a resource skill assessment which may be included as part of the assessment of capability gaps.

Answer: B is incorrect. This is a description of root cause analysis.

QUESTION 4

You are the business analyst for your organization and preparing to plan the business analysis approach.

There are three inputs to the business analysis approach. Which one of the following is not an input to this approach?

- A. Organizational process asset
- B. Expert judgment
- C. Enterprise environmental factor
- D. Business need

Correct Answer: C

Enterprise environmental factors are the rules, policies, and procedures that the business analyst must adhere to. These are already established and therefore are not considered to be inputs to this process. The three inputs to the plan business analysis approach are business needs, expert judgment, and organizational process assets.
