QUESTION 1

"The backpack in the chair is his, but the lunchbox on the floor is hers."

In this sentence, which two words are examples of pronouns?

- A. chair, floor
- B. in, on
- C. his, hers
- D. backpack, lunchbox

Correct Answer: C

QUESTION 2

Moose is the most important game animal in Alaska.

- A. Moose is the most important game animal in Alaska
- B. Moose are the most important game animal in Alaska
- C. Moose, the most important game animal in Alaska
- D. Mooses are the most important game animal in Alaska
- E. Moose have the most important game animal in Alaska

Correct Answer: B

This sentence has an error in the verb that follows a plural noun `moose`.

Option "Moose is the most important game animal in Alaska" uses a singular verb (is) in the place of a plural verb.

Option "Moose, the most important game animal in Alaska" does not have any verb.

Option "Mooses are the most important game animal in Alaska" uses a wrong plural form of the noun (mooses).

Option "Moose have the most important game animal in Alaska" uses an auxiliary verb (have) without a main verb.

Option "Moose are the most important game animal in Alaska" uses a plural verb `are`. That is appropriate with (he) noun; hence, it is the correct answer.
